A Note on How to Read This Handbook

This Handbook is the single reference point for the terms, policies and expectations that govern your employment with Insomniacs Digital Private Limited. It is written to be read in full and kept for reference.

Throughout this Handbook you will find shaded boxes marked “Your Statutory Rights.” These boxes explain, in plain language, the legal entitlements that apply to you under Indian law. They are provided for clarity and to demonstrate the Company’s commitment to compliance. Where any provision of this Handbook is read to be inconsistent with a statutory entitlement, the statutory entitlement prevails.

About the legal framework (as of 2026)

India’s four Labour Codes - the Code on Wages, 2019; the Code on Social Security, 2020; the Industrial Relations Code, 2020; and the Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2020 - came into force on 21 November 2025, and the final Central Rules were notified on 8 May 2026.

This Handbook is drafted to comply with this framework as it applies in India. Where a specific entitlement is being phased in or depends on a notification still awaited, this is indicated. The Company will update this Handbook as the law evolves.

Introduction

Insomniacs Digital Private Limited (hereinafter referred to as “The Company”) believes in collective and mutual growth - the growth and development not only of The Company, but also of its employees and affiliates. We strive to ensure that this belief is reflected in all our actions and conduct, and we hope it is reflected in yours too.

This Employee Handbook (the “Handbook”) has been designed and drafted to forward our beliefs and our business policy. As an employee, we expect you to carefully read and abide by this Handbook - in letter and in spirit - and to ensure that the conduct of every individual associated with The Company is in accordance with it.

It is our privilege to welcome you to The Company. We wish you every possible success in your role, and we hope that you feel like a member of The Company family. We hope your experience with The Company is rewarding, challenging and stimulating.

General Provisions

This Handbook is designed to provide employees with a single reference point for all information relating to their employment. Within it you will find the policies and guidelines that govern your conduct in The Company, as well as The Company's conduct relating to your employment.

This Handbook is not a contract of employment and does not create contractual entitlements beyond those provided in your Employment Agreement, Offer Letter, Appointment Letter or under applicable law. The Company's Management may amend, alter, modify or replace any part of this Handbook from time to time. Changes will be communicated to employees, and your continued employment after a change is communicated constitutes acceptance of the revised Handbook. Nothing in this Handbook reduces any entitlement guaranteed to you by law.

By virtue of your employment with The Company, you are obligated to read this Handbook closely and to adhere to its principles and requirements.

Employee Categories

For the purposes of this Handbook, employees are classified into four categories:

Category	Who it covers
Category 1	Interns, Executives and Junior-level employees
Category 2	Senior Executives, Mid-senior Managers, Mid-senior Designers, Mid-senior Artists
Category 3	Account Directors, Senior. Managers, Manager, Senior Designers, Senior Artists
Category 4	General Managers and Vice President(s)

Where this Handbook refers to a role title such as "Team Leader (TL)," "Senior Executive," or a department such as Technology, Accounts or Admin, that reference is to be mapped to the relevant Category above. The Four-Category system is the single classification used throughout this Handbook.

Recruitment - Policy and Process

Equal Opportunity Policy

The Company acknowledges its moral and legal obligations regarding non-discrimination at the workplace and equal opportunity in recruitment. We offer equal opportunity to all persons irrespective of disability, race, sex, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, age, marital status, pregnancy, religion or similar belief. It is contrary to our value system to discriminate against any person on these grounds in the terms and conditions of employment or in opportunities for training and promotion. We recognise that equal opportunity is a continuous, ongoing process that must remain under constant review.

This policy reflects the principles of equal opportunity and reasonable accommodation recognised under Indian law, including the rights of persons with disabilities. Disciplinary action will be taken against any employee found to have discriminated against another employee on any of the grounds set out above, including by treating them less favourably, by harassment or victimisation, or by failing to make reasonable adjustments to prevent a disadvantage at work.

- Recruitment is carried out solely on the basis of an applicant's abilities and suitability for the role. The Company will make reasonable adjustments to its recruitment procedure to ensure applicants are not placed at a disadvantage.
- Induction: On commencement, The Company will, in consultation with the employee, take all reasonable steps to enable that employee to work safely and effectively. Where specialist expertise is required - for example, in relation to a differently-abled employee - The Company will consult an appropriate specialist.
- Training and career development: All employees have equal rights to training, promotion, incentives and other aspects of career development based on their abilities. Please refer to the Training and Education Policy.
- Benefits: All employees have equal access to benefits and facilities, with reasonable adjustments made where necessary.
- Retention and adjustments: The Company will take reasonable measures to retain employees and enable them to perform their duties, which may include specialist equipment, job redesign, re-training, flexible hours or redeployment. Adjustments are arranged in consultation with the employee and reviewed at reasonable intervals.
- Grievance redressal: Any grievance under this policy should be reported, in writing or orally, as soon as possible to the designated committee by email to complaints@insomniacs.in.

Recruitment Process

- Recruitment is a competitive process. It is carried out through advertisements, job postings, conferences, applications, employee referrals and any other appropriate method.
- The minimum age for employment at The Company is 18 (eighteen) years.

- Every applicant is subject to interviews, tasks and such other requirements as may be necessary to determine suitability ("Pre-Employment Requirements"). The purpose is to understand the applicant's skills, ability and fit for the role.
- Applicants may be asked to provide copies of educational and other qualifications stated in their application, together with reference or experience letters as required. The Company may conduct background and reference verification.
- Every recruitment process concludes with the execution of an Employment Agreement which, together with this Handbook, governs the employment of the selected applicant. The process is complete only when the Employment Agreement is executed, the stated formalities are completed and supporting documents are provided.

Working Life at The Company

Probation

- On acceptance of the Offer Letter and on joining, every employee is subject to a probation period of the duration specified in their Offer Letter or Employment Agreement, calculated from the date of joining. The probation period may differ between employees and, where it does, the applicable period will be stated in the Offer Letter or Employment Agreement.
- Leave entitlement during probation is governed by the Leave Policy. Leave accrues from the date of joining but may be availed only after confirmation of employment.
- The benefits available during probation and on confirmation will be outlined in the Offer Letter, Appointment Letter or Employment Agreement, as applicable.
- If The Company finds that an employee is not suited to the role during probation, it may either change the job profile or terminate the employment by serving 7 (seven) days' written notice. If the job profile is changed at The Company's option, the employee may accept the new role or terminate employment by serving 7 (seven) days' written notice to the Reporting Manager, the HR department and Management (with HR marked on all related emails). The probation period for a revised job profile will be determined on a case-by-case basis.
- The Company may transfer any employee to a sister concern or group company where, in its opinion, the employee is better suited to such role.
- An employee found to be in breach of the Employment Agreement, Offer Letter, Appointment Letter or this Handbook while on probation may be terminated in accordance with the disciplinary process, and for serious misconduct, without notice.

- All employees are added to official communication groups (WhatsApp / HR Application) as required and are expected to remain in them. Voluntarily leaving an official group without authorisation is treated as an act of indiscipline and may attract disciplinary action.
- Probation period can be reduced or extended based on performance.

Working Hours

- Depending on their role, employees may work under different working-hour arrangements. As an employee of The Company, you are expected to work the hours necessary to fulfil your duties, within the limits set by law.
- Working hours are recorded through timesheets, the HR Application and such other systems as The Company may adopt from time to time.
- Time of arrival and departure is registered in the attendance system on the HR Application. Employees must record attendance daily; failure to do so will be marked as absent for that day.
- Submission of a Work Report in HR Application is mandatory. Failure to submit will be considered non-co-operation.

Your Statutory Rights - Working Hours & Overtime

Under the Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code and the State's relevant Act, the normal working period is 8 hours per day, and the maximum working week is 48 hours.

Where you are required to work beyond the daily or weekly limit, you are entitled to overtime wages at twice your ordinary rate of wages for the overtime hours, as prescribed by law.

Any flexible arrangement of hours will remain within the 48-hour weekly limit.

Lunch Break

- The standard lunch break is from 1:00 PM to 2:00 PM (60 minutes). Employees are expected to return to their desks by 2:05 PM at the latest (a 5-minute buffer). Please plan your travel, meals and personal needs accordingly.
- If your lunch break is delayed due to a meeting, client call or other work reason, please inform your supervisor and HR by email so that a later return can be approved.
- In any case, the lunch break will not exceed 60 minutes.

- Not returning for the second half after lunch without prior half-day approval will be recorded as an unauthorised absence and may attract a written warning. Repeated instances may lead to disciplinary proceedings.

Attendance and Punctuality

The Company expects its employees to be reliable and punctual. If you are going to be late or absent, you are expected to inform your Reporting Manager and HR before your shift start time. The attendance rules below apply uniformly.

- A late check-in is any check-in after your shift start time (for a 9:00 AM shift, any check-in after 9:00 AM). Check-ins between 9:01 AM and 9:15 AM are flagged as “late” in the system.
- If you are late, you must inform your Team Leader via HR Application (or, only if HR Application is unavailable, by email from your official email ID), explaining the reason. The Team Leader may approve a late arrival where the reason is genuine, but this is limited to 3 (three) instances per calendar month.
- On the 4th late check-in in the same month, and on each late check-in thereafter that month, a half-day Loss of Pay (LOP) will be marked. You are required to email HR informing them of the late arrival and the reason.
- Check-ins after 9:15 AM may, at HR’s discretion, be treated as a half-day absence. If you anticipate being significantly late (for example, more than 15 minutes), please inform your supervisor and consider applying for a half-day leave.
- Employees must work a minimum of 4 hours for a half-day and 8 hours for a full day.
- Shift timings are to be strictly adhered to. Punctuality is monitored by HR and is an important factor in performance evaluation.
- Reporting Managers and Heads of Department are responsible for monitoring the attendance of their teams. A manager who improperly excuses late attendance or shows partiality will be in breach of Company protocol and may receive an official warning.
- Employees on a business trip scheduled after 6:00 PM are expected to attend the office for a half-day; where the trip is scheduled before 6:00 PM, the employee may report during shift hours and leave up to 3 hours before the scheduled departure.
- Absenteeism without notice may result in disciplinary action and, in accordance with the Leave Policy, may result in termination of employment. Repeated disregard of timings may lead to disciplinary action up to and including termination, following the disciplinary process set out in this Handbook.
- For any dispute regarding an attendance marking, contact HR within 7 (seven) days of the disputed event.

Proxy Attendance

- Proxy attendance is strictly prohibited. No employee shall mark attendance on behalf of another, request another to mark attendance on their behalf, share attendance credentials, or otherwise manipulate attendance records.
- Both the employee giving and the employee receiving a proxy attendance are equally responsible for the violation.
- CCTV footage may be cross-referenced against attendance logs where a discrepancy is flagged. This is not about surveillance or distrust - it is about maintaining clean, indisputable records so that disputes can be resolved fairly and quickly. Where a deduction is challenged, The Company is prepared to present timestamped system data alongside corresponding CCTV records, as it is entitled to do.
- Proxy attendance is treated as misconduct. A flagged instance will result in the unworked time being treated as Loss of Pay and will be referred to the disciplinary process, which may result in recovery of the amount paid for time not worked and further disciplinary action, scaling with frequency, for both the employee giving and the employee receiving the proxy.

Why this is framed as recovery and discipline, not a fixed fine

Under the Code on Wages, 2019, deductions from wages and fines are permitted only on specified grounds, subject to limits and a prescribed procedure (including notice and an opportunity to explain).

Treating proxy attendance as misconduct - recovering pay for time not actually worked and applying the disciplinary process - achieves a strict outcome while keeping the action enforceable. A flat, pre-set fine imposed without process would be open to challenge.

Salary

- Salaries are determined by the employee's role and as mutually agreed between the employee and Management.
- Salary is paid in 12 monthly installments and is paid on the 7th day of each month. If the 7th is a public holiday, salary is paid one or two days earlier or later. In case of delayed payment, please contact HR immediately.
- Each employee receives an individual salary statement specifying the components of salary, statutory deductions (such as taxes and statutory contributions), insurance premiums (if any) and any other deductions you have authorised.
- Increments and promotions are not automatic and depend on the employee's performance.

- Statutory deductions made by The Company do not exempt the employee from any statutory liability imposed on them by law in respect of their salary.
- Payroll is calculated for Monday to Saturday; Sundays are not counted in the calculation.

Your Statutory Rights - Wages

Under the Code on Wages, 2019, your “wages” (basic pay plus dearness allowance and retaining allowance) must constitute at least 50% of your total remuneration. This affects how provident fund, gratuity, bonus and leave encashment are computed.

Permissible deductions from wages are limited to those allowed by law. Any agreement by which an employee gives up a statutory wage entitlement is void, regardless of consent.

Statutory bonus, where applicable, is payable under the Code on Wages, 2019.

Referral Bonus Policy

- An employee who refers a candidate is eligible for a Referral Bonus if the referred candidate successfully completes their probation period with the company.
- The referral bonus is payable only if the referring employee is actively employed with the organization at the time the bonus is processed and paid.
- If the referring employee separates from the company before the payout date, they forfeit eligibility for the referral bonus.
- All referrals must be submitted to the HR Department through the approved referral process/email prior to or at the time of the candidate's application, to ensure proper record-keeping and tracking.
- The referral bonus amount, eligible roles, and payout timeline are governed by the prevailing company policy and may be revised at the company's discretion.

CCTV and Surveillance

- The Company operates CCTV across its working premises for the legitimate purposes of workplace safety and security, protection of persons and property, prevention and investigation of misconduct, and meeting operational and legal requirements. CCTV is in operation throughout working and non-working hours, and conspicuous signage indicates areas under surveillance.
- Cameras are not installed in, and do not cover, washrooms, changing areas, the nursing/feeding room, or any other area where employees have a reasonable expectation of privacy.

- Footage is accessed only by authorised personnel, on a need-to-know basis, and is used only for the purposes above. It is retained for a period not exceeding 365 days, after which it is securely overwritten, except where it is required to be preserved for an active investigation, a legal hold, or a statutory or regulatory requirement.
- CCTV is part of the Company's normal operations and is integral to workplace safety; it is administered in accordance with the Data Protection section of this Handbook and applicable law. Tampering with, obstructing, disabling or attempting to access CCTV equipment or footage without authorisation is treated as misconduct under the Policy on Disciplinary Action.

Personal Property

The Company does not accept responsibility for the security of employees' personal possessions. Please take care of your personal property; in particular, handbags and wallets should not be left unattended.

If you find any lost property, please hand it to the Administration / HR department (HR email).

Termination of Employment and Notice Periods

- Every employee is bound by the terms of their Employment Agreement, Offer Letter and Appointment Letter, as applicable.
- Notice periods are reciprocal: the same notice (or pay in lieu of notice) applies whether the employee resigns or The Company terminates the employment other than for cause. Termination for cause (misconduct or serious breach) is governed by the Policy on Disciplinary Action and may take effect immediately, without notice.
- The applicable notice periods are:

Status / Category	Notice Period (either side)
During probation (all categories)	7 days
PIP (Performance Improvement Plan)	7 days
Category 1 - Interns, Executives and Junior-level employees (post-confirmation)	30 days
Category 2 - Senior Executives, Mid-senior Managers, Mid-senior Designers, Mid-senior Artists (post-confirmation)	30 days

Status / Category	Notice Period (either side)
Category 3 - Account Directors, Senior. Managers, Manager, Senior Designers, Senior Artists (post-confirmation)	45 days
Category 4 - General Managers and Vice President(s) (post-confirmation)	45 days
HR & Accounts (post-confirmation)	45 days

- A written notice for the applicable period must be served to terminate employment. Either party may elect to pay salary in lieu of the unserved portion of the notice period.
- An employee's responsibilities and obligations arising from employment are not extinguished on termination and continue to be governed by the Employment Agreement (including confidentiality and non-disclosure obligations).
- The Leave Policy does not apply during the notice period; leave may not ordinarily be availed while serving notice.
- If an employee fails to serve the required notice, The Company may recover an amount equivalent to the salary for the unserved notice period and pursue such other remedies as are available in law for actual or liquidated damages. (The Company does not seek punitive or exemplary damages; recovery is limited to the notice shortfall and demonstrable loss.)
- An employee will be relieved only after returning all confidential information and materials (physical or digital, including copies) and all Company equipment - laptop, phone, electronic devices and the like - to HR. The relieving letter will be issued after the Reporting Manager and HR have given their no-objection.

Your Statutory Rights - Final Settlement (Full & Final)

Under the Code on Wages, 2019, your earned wages on exit (by resignation, termination, dismissal or retrenchment) must be paid within two working days of your last working day, and in any event no later than the timeline prescribed by law.

The return of Company assets and completion of exit formalities is a condition for issuing the relieving letter.

Gratuity, where you have completed five years of continuous service (not required in case of death or disablement), is payable under the Code on Social Security, 2020.

Employee Exit and Full & Final Settlement Policy

- Upon cessation of employment, employees shall complete all prescribed exit formalities, including handover of responsibilities and return of Company property, documents, access credentials and confidential information.

- The Company shall process the employee's Full and Final Settlement in accordance with applicable law, subject to adjustment of authorised recoveries. Employment documents shall be issued in accordance with Company policy and applicable legal requirements.

Gratuity Policy

- Employees are eligible for gratuity benefits in accordance with company policy and applicable labour laws.
- Gratuity becomes payable only upon completion of the minimum continuous service period prescribed under the applicable law and/or company policy.
- Gratuity is calculated and disbursed as per the formula and limits defined under the relevant statute and company policy.
- Any misconduct, policy violation, or incomplete exit clearance may affect the gratuity amount and the final settlement process.
- All gratuity payments will be processed as part of the employee's Full and Final Settlement.

Superannuation / Retirement

The age of superannuation (retirement) at The Company is 58 (fifty-eight) years. The Company may, by written agreement, extend an employee's engagement beyond the age of superannuation where mutually agreed. This clause governs retirement only and does not operate as a bar to recruitment.

Confidentiality and Conduct Standards

Confidentiality

- During your employment you will have access to confidential information belonging to The Company and its clients. You must not disclose this information for any purpose, both during and after your employment. On termination, you must return all confidential information in your possession. You agree that The Company may monitor and inspect confidential information in your possession at any time.
- This confidentiality obligation is in addition to the obligations in your Employment Agreement.

Proper Use of Official Position

- While employed by The Company, you must not be connected, directly or indirectly, with any business that competes with The Company, and you must not start or engage in any side business or additional employment that could divert your attention from your duties. Any such existing engagement must be disclosed to Management immediately. (This does not affect any activity expressly permitted in writing or protected by law.)

- Accepting material gratuities or favours from third parties is prohibited where it might be construed as an attempt to influence your actions in connection with The Company's business. "Material" means any item or service with a total value above INR 500. Gifts from suppliers or customers on a regular or periodic basis, regardless of value, are discouraged and must be reported to the office in-charge and Management immediately. Failure to report may lead to disciplinary action.

Anti-Bribery and Anti-Corruption

- If you are offered or have received a gratuity and are concerned about its intent, you must consult your supervisor and/or Management.
- The Company has zero tolerance for bribery and corruption in any form. No employee shall, directly or indirectly, offer, promise, give, solicit or accept any bribe, kickback, illegal commission, facilitation payment or other improper advantage, whether involving a private party or a public official, in connection with the Company's business.
- This applies to dealings with clients, vendors, agents, intermediaries and government or regulatory authorities. Gifts and hospitality are governed by the limits set out in "Proper Use of Official Position" above and must never be used to improperly influence a business decision.
- Any solicitation of a bribe, or any offer of an improper advantage, must be reported immediately to Management. A breach of this clause is treated as serious misconduct and may also attract criminal liability for the individual under applicable law, including the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988, where public officials are involved.

Communication of Conflicts of Interest

- All actual or potential conflicts of interest, and any transactions or relationships that could reasonably be expected to create a conflict or the appearance of one, must be disclosed to The Company by email to the Official email. If in doubt, seek guidance from HR or Management.
- Employees shall disclose any personal relationship with another employee or applicant where such relationship may give rise to an actual or perceived conflict of interest.
- Employees shall not participate in decisions relating to the recruitment, appraisal, promotion, compensation or disciplinary action concerning a relative. The Company reserves the right to modify reporting relationships or take other reasonable measures to address such conflicts.

Company Property

- The Company provides equipment which may include laptops, mobile phones and printers. The Company owns all such equipment and the information stored on it, and reserves the right to review and disclose information stored, sent or received on it. Some employees may be required to use their own devices for work, as intimated at the time of joining.
- Information stored on these devices is usually confidential and must be treated with care in accordance with the confidentiality requirements of this Handbook and your Employment Agreement.
- Do not copy software or download programs or information that may result in third-party rights violations or damage to the equipment or stored information. You may be held liable for resulting damage.
- Use Company equipment exclusively for authorised business purposes.
- As an employee you are responsible for Company property in your possession, for any damage beyond ordinary wear and tear, and for loss or theft while in your possession.
- Report any theft, loss or vandalism to The Company within 24 hours of the incident.

Information Technology and Internet Use

The Company recognises the importance of information technology. While we do not set rigid rules, the following principles apply to the use of internet-related services at work:

- Internet-related services at work are for business purposes.
- Keep in mind the confidential nature of your work and follow sensible security measures.
- The Company reserves the right to monitor and access activity undertaken on its internet-related services, to the extent permitted by law and for legitimate business purposes.
- Do not engage in activity that is or could be construed as inappropriate, illegal, defamatory or harmful to others.
- Use social media responsibly; remember that internet-related services at work should serve business purposes or the growth of The Company and its employees.
- If in doubt about any of these principles, contact HR.

Social Media

- Employees are personally responsible for what they post online.

- On personal social media, employees must not disclose any confidential or client information, must not purport to speak on behalf of the Company without written authorisation, and must not post content that disparages the Company, its clients, employees or partners, or that could reasonably damage the Company's reputation.
- Where an employee's connection to the Company is apparent, they should make clear that their views are their own.
- Harassment, discrimination or bullying of colleagues through social media or messaging platforms is treated the same as such conduct at the workplace and may attract disciplinary action.
- The Company's official social media accounts and those of its clients are operated only by authorised personnel.
- No employee may create, access or post from an official account without authorisation.
- A breach of this clause is dealt with under the Policy on Disciplinary Action and, where relevant, the confidentiality provisions of this Handbook and your Employment Agreement.

Personal Devices and Storage Media at the Workplace

- To protect data integrity and prevent the unauthorised copying, removal or leakage of Company Data, the use of personal electronic devices and storage media at the workplace is restricted as set out below. In this clause, "personal devices and storage media" includes personal mobile phones, smartphones, smartwatches and wearables, USB pen drives, external hard disks, memory cards, personal laptops and any other personal device capable of storing, capturing or transferring data. This clause does not apply to a personal device that an employee is authorised to use for Company work under the Information Security, Acceptable Use and BYOD Policy, the use of which is governed by that Policy.
- Personal mobile phones and similar devices are not to be kept at the work floor or at workstations during working hours. They are to be kept away from the work floor - in the employee's bag or drawer or another designated place - and may be used during lunch and other authorised breaks, and in designated areas. This restriction does not apply to a genuine emergency; an employee who needs to remain reachable for a pressing personal or family reason should inform their Reporting Manager or HR, and reasonable arrangements will be made.
- Personal pen drives, external hard disks, memory cards, personal laptops and similar storage media must not be connected to, or used with, any Company system, device or network, and must not be used to copy, store or transfer Company Data, without the Company's prior written authorisation. The Company may disable or control USB ports, removable-media access and data-transfer functions on its systems, and may monitor and log data-transfer activity, in line with the Information Security, Acceptable Use and BYOD Policy.

- The photographing, screen-recording or audio recording of Company systems, screens, documents, client information or work areas using a personal device is prohibited except as expressly authorised for Company work, consistent with the Protection of Confidential Information and Meetings section of this Handbook.
- Where the Company has a reasonable basis to suspect a breach of this clause or a risk to Company Data, it may inspect bags, belongings and personal storage media brought onto or taken from the premises. Any such inspection will be conducted respectfully, with due regard to the dignity and privacy of the employee, and where the person being inspected is a woman, any inspection will be carried out only by a woman. An employee is expected to cooperate with a reasonable inspection conducted under this clause.
- A breach of this clause - including unauthorised use of personal storage media, unauthorised data transfer, or unauthorised photographing or recording - is treated as misconduct and dealt with under the Policy on Disciplinary Action, and where it involves Company or client data, under the confidentiality and data-protection provisions of this Handbook and your Employment Agreement.

Work Location - On-Site Working

- The Company operates on an on-site, in-office basis. Work from home is not offered as a standard or default working arrangement, and no employee has a right to work from home.
- The Company may, at its sole discretion and in exceptional circumstances (for example, a government-mandated restriction or a genuine business need), permit or require an employee to work remotely on a temporary basis. Any such arrangement does not change the employee's remuneration and may be withdrawn at any time.
- Where temporary remote work is permitted or required, all policies, rules and standards of this Handbook apply equally, and the employee must ensure adequate infrastructure (suitable workspace, device, reliable power and internet) to perform their duties without interruption.

Information Security, Acceptable Use and BYOD Policy

Purpose and Scope

- This Policy governs the use of Company systems, networks, applications, data and resources, and the use of personally owned devices for Company work. It is intended to protect the Company's confidential information, intellectual property, client data, digital infrastructure and operational security. It forms an integral part of this Handbook and your employment terms, and is binding on all employees, interns, consultants, contractual personnel and any other person authorised to access Company systems or data. In this Policy, "Company Data" means any data, information or material owned by or entrusted to the Company, in any form and on any device, and "Personal Device" means any personally owned laptop, desktop, tablet, mobile phone, storage device or other electronic device used for Company work.

Authorisation and Conditional Use (BYOD)

- Employees may use a Personal Device for Company work only with the prior approval of the Company. Such permission is conditional on full compliance with this Policy and is revocable at the Company's sole discretion, including where the Company considers that a device or its use may expose it to cybersecurity, confidentiality, legal, operational, reputational or regulatory risk. An employee who does not wish to use a Personal Device may request a Company-provided device, subject to availability and role requirements. The use of a Personal Device, and the consent associated with it, is therefore voluntary.

Security Compliance Obligations

- An employee using a Personal Device for Company work must keep the device secure, including by maintaining an updated operating system and security patches, active antivirus and anti-malware protection, password protection, encryption where applicable, firewall protection and multi-factor authentication wherever required by the Company. Devices must not be rooted, jailbroken or otherwise security-compromised. The Company may require the installation of approved endpoint protection, VPN, monitoring, authentication or mobile-device-management (MDM) software as a condition of access. Failure to meet these obligations may result in suspension of access and disciplinary action.

Prohibited Software and Activities

- Employees must not install, use or store on any device used for Company work any software, application, extension or tool that is pirated, cracked, unlicensed, unlawful, or classified by the Company as prohibited or high-risk. Employees must not use software or methods that circumvent licensing or security controls, interfere with Company monitoring, enable unauthorized remote access, scraping or file-sharing, or that expose the Company to malware, ransomware, spyware, phishing or data leakage. The use of unauthorised AI tools, unauthorised automation or browser extensions, cryptocurrency-mining software and unauthorised cloud-sync tools is prohibited. The Company may update the list of prohibited software from time to time.

Acceptable Use of AI and External Platforms

- Employees must not upload, input, disclose, process, generate or share any Company Data, client information, source files, campaigns, internal communications, commercial strategies, credentials or other confidential information through unauthorised artificial-intelligence systems, public generative-AI tools, external machine-learning platforms or unapproved automation tools, without the Company's prior written authorisation. Any output, content, code, design or creative work generated using AI tools in the course of employment and relating to Company business is the sole and exclusive property of the Company. AI tools must not be used in any manner that breaches client confidentiality, intellectual-property rights, contractual commitments or applicable law. The Company may regulate, approve, restrict or prohibit the use of AI tools in its operations and client work.

Password Security and Access Control

- Employees must keep all passwords, OTPs, recovery and access credentials, API keys and security certificates strictly confidential, use strong passwords and multi-factor authentication wherever required, and never share credentials with any unauthorized person. Any actual or suspected compromise of credentials, unauthorised access or suspicious login activity must be reported immediately. Sharing or misuse of credentials is treated as serious misconduct.

Network Security and Remote Access

- Employees must not access Company systems, repositories, cloud infrastructure or applications over unsecured public Wi-Fi, insecure hotspots, compromised networks or unauthorised VPN services. Where Company systems are accessed away from the office, only Company-approved security mechanisms, VPNs, gateways and authentication systems may be used, and employees must take all reasonable precautions to prevent interception or unauthorised disclosure of Company Data.

Data Transfer Restrictions

- Employees must not transfer, copy, download, synchronise or move Company Data onto unauthorised hard drives, USB or removable storage, personal cloud systems, personal email accounts or third-party platforms without the Company's prior written authorisation. The Company may monitor, restrict, audit or disable data-transfer activity conducted through Company systems or through a Personal Device used for Company work.

Company Monitoring, Audit and Inspection Rights

- Where a Personal Device is used for Company work, the employee acknowledges and agrees that the Company - directly or through authorised IT personnel, auditors, cybersecurity consultants, forensic experts, legal advisors or authorised service providers - may conduct periodic, random or event-based inspections, audits, monitoring, compliance reviews and forensic investigations in relation to Company-related activity on that device. This may include review of Company accounts, applications, communication channels, repositories, cloud systems, credentials, work-related logs and work-related storage and browser activity. All Company systems, accounts, communications, repositories, cloud systems, VPN access and work-related activity conducted through a Personal Device may be logged, monitored, reviewed, preserved or audited for legitimate business, operational, cybersecurity, evidentiary, regulatory, compliance, legal and investigative purposes. The employee has no expectation of privacy with respect to Company Data, Company systems or work-related activity conducted through a Personal Device. The Company will, wherever reasonably practicable, confine such monitoring to work-related data and Company-controlled environments; the employee acknowledges that complete segregation of personal and work-related data may not always be technically feasible, particularly during a cybersecurity incident, forensic investigation or legal-compliance action.

Confidentiality and Data Protection

- Employees must maintain strict confidentiality of all Company Data, client information, source files, internal communications, strategies, business and commercial records, intellectual property, credentials and proprietary material accessed or handled during employment. Company Data must not be transferred to unauthorised cloud systems, personal drives, external storage, third-party applications or personal email without prior written authorisation, and credentials must not be shared. All Company Data remains the sole and exclusive property of the Company regardless of the device on which it is accessed, processed or stored. This Policy is administered consistently with the Data Protection and Employee Privacy section of this Handbook and applicable law, including the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023.

Intellectual Property and Digital Asset Ownership

- All campaigns, designs, source files, creatives, code, strategies, documents, databases, marketing materials, AI-generated outputs, client deliverables, reports, templates and other work product developed, created or handled by an employee in the course of employment is the sole and exclusive property of the Company. Employees claim no ownership, lien, retention or independent intellectual-property right over such material except as expressly authorised in writing by the Company. The detailed assignment of intellectual property is governed by your Employment Agreement, which continues to apply.

Client Data Protection

- Employees must access, use, store and transmit client information strictly for authorised business purposes and in accordance with Company instructions, confidentiality and contractual obligations, and applicable law. Client information must not be disclosed, shared, reproduced or misused without authorisation. Unauthorised disclosure or misuse of client information may result in immediate disciplinary action, termination and legal proceedings.

Remote Access Control and Data Removal

- Wherever technically feasible, the Company will manage Company Data on a Personal Device through a segregated work profile or MDM container, so that Company Data can be removed in isolation without affecting the employee's personal data. Full formatting or wiping of a Personal Device will be used only where such segregation is not feasible, and only to the extent reasonably necessary and permitted by applicable law.
- The Company reserves the right, at any time and where reasonably necessary to protect its systems, data or legitimate interests, to revoke credentials, disable accounts, disconnect devices, remove Company profiles and remotely remove, disable or wipe Company Data, accounts, applications, repositories, cached information and work-related environments from a Personal Device.
- Such action may be taken on resignation, termination, suspension, policy violation, device loss or theft, suspected unauthorised access, a cybersecurity incident, a forensic investigation or a legal-compliance requirement.
- The employee is solely responsible for independently maintaining backups of their personal information, files, photographs and communications, and the Company is not liable for incidental or consequential loss of personal data arising from the lawful enforcement of its security measures.

Incident Reporting

- Employees must immediately notify the Company of any actual or suspected cybersecurity incident, phishing attempt, credential compromise, unauthorised access, malware or ransomware attack, data leakage, suspicious activity, or loss or theft of a device holding Company Data. Failure to report promptly may itself constitute misconduct.

Exit and Offboarding

- On resignation, termination, suspension or completion of engagement, an employee must immediately cease access to Company systems, cooperate with all IT verification procedures, surrender all Company credentials and assets, permit removal of Company Data, and delete all unauthorised copies of Company information. The Company may require execution of an Exit Data Compliance Declaration or a reaffirmation of confidentiality. Return of assets and completion of these steps is a condition for issuing the relieving letter.
- If the employee fails to handover the Company property including but not limited to Company Hardwares, Access Codes, Data, Documents, API Keys or Software License Keys on or before the last working day, Company reserves the right to pursue legal action for the recovery.

Cybersecurity Investigation and Cooperation

- Employees must cooperate fully with all cybersecurity reviews, forensic audits, investigations, compliance exercises, incident-response measures and security verifications conducted by the Company or its authorised representatives, and provide all reasonable assistance, access and information required to protect Company systems, Company Data and the Company's legitimate interests.

Survival of Obligations

- All obligations relating to confidentiality, cybersecurity, intellectual property, data protection, Company ownership rights, client confidentiality and protection of Company Data survive the end of employment, by resignation, termination, suspension or otherwise, and continue to bind the employee thereafter.

Disciplinary Consequences

- A violation of this Policy, the BYOD requirements, confidentiality or data-protection obligations, cybersecurity protocols, monitoring requirements, AI-usage restrictions or any related Company directive may constitute serious misconduct and may result in disciplinary proceedings, suspension, termination, recovery proceedings, civil or injunctive action, financial liability, criminal complaint where applicable, or such other remedies as are available to the Company under applicable law.

Governing Law and Jurisdiction

- This Policy is governed by the laws of India. Subject to applicable law, the courts at Bhavnagar, Gujarat have exclusive jurisdiction over any dispute arising out of or in connection with this Policy.

Training and Education Policy

The Company believes your intellectual development is important. We have a Training and Education Policy under which reimbursement of educational courses may be available, subject to the following conditions.

Courses undertaken on your own initiative

- The course should be approved by a Category 3 employee before you enrol.
- The Company does not reimburse fees for such courses.
- If you require leave to prepare for or sit examinations, prior approval must be obtained at least 3 (three) weeks in advance from your Reporting Manager, HR and a Category 3 employee.

Courses required by The Company

- A Category 2 employee should identify the required course and the business need, to be approved by a Category 3 employee.
- Fees for such courses are generally paid by The Company directly to the course provider, provided due approvals have been obtained and the fee does not exceed 30% of the employee's monthly CTC.
- If the employee resigns or their employment ends on or before 12 (twelve) months after completion of a Company-funded course, the course fees may be recovered (clawed back) to the extent permitted by law, as agreed in writing at the time of approval.

Performance Management and Appraisal Policy

- The Company may conduct periodic performance reviews to assess an employee's performance, productivity, quality of work, attendance, adherence to Company policies, teamwork and achievement of assigned objectives.
- Performance appraisals do not create any automatic entitlement to salary increments, promotions, bonuses or changes in designation. Any such decision shall remain at the sole discretion of the Company, subject to business requirements and individual performance.

Performance Improvement Plan (PIP) Policy

- Where an employee's performance falls below the standards reasonably expected for their role, the Company may place the employee on a Performance Improvement Plan ("PIP").
- The PIP shall specify the areas requiring improvement, performance expectations and the review period. At the conclusion of the review period, the Company may confirm satisfactory completion of the PIP, extend the review period, reassign the employee to another suitable role, or terminate employment in accordance with the applicable notice provisions.

Prevention of Sexual Harassment at the Workplace (POSH)

The Company treats every individual with respect and dignity and does not tolerate any form of harassment or discrimination. This Policy sets out The Company's responsibilities to maintain a safe, harassment-free workplace and is framed in accordance with the Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act, 2013 (the "POSH Act") and the rules made under it.

Scope note

The POSH Act is the statutory framework that protects women at the workplace, and this Policy implements it in full.

Separately, The Company extends equivalent protection to all employees, of every gender, through its Anti-Harassment and Anti-Bullying Policy (set out after this section). No employee is left without a right to raise a complaint.

What constitutes sexual harassment

"Sexual harassment" includes any one or more of the following unwelcome acts or behaviour, whether direct or by implication:

- physical contact or advances;
- a demand or request for sexual favours;
- sexually coloured remarks, or pranks, teasing or jokes of a sexual nature;
- showing pornography;
- any other unwelcome physical, verbal or non-verbal conduct of a sexual nature;
- an implied or explicit promise of preferential treatment in employment;
- an implied or explicit threat of detrimental treatment in employment;
- a threat about present or future employment;
- interference with work, or creating an intimidating, offensive or hostile work environment; or
- humiliating treatment likely to affect health or safety.

Sexual harassment may occur between any persons connected with the workplace, including co-workers, and between an employee and any person they deal with in the course of work, whether or not that person is an employee of The Company.

What constitutes a workplace

For the purposes of this Policy, a “workplace” includes:

- The Company’s office located in Bhavnagar, and any other location to which The Company may expand from time to time;
- any place visited by an employee arising out of or during the course of employment;
- transportation provided or arranged by The Company for commuting or business purposes;
- any social gathering organised by The Company, including business meetings and parties; and
- any means of communication used in connection with work, whether official or private.

Who this Policy protects

This Policy protects all women who are permanent or temporary employees, interns, consultants, contract workers or visitors of The Company, whether working for remuneration, voluntarily or otherwise, consistent with the POSH Act.

The Internal Committee

Complaints of sexual harassment are referred to the Internal Committee (“IC”) constituted under the POSH Act. The IC comprises:

Role	Composition (as required by the POSH Act)
Presiding Officer	A woman employed at a senior level at the workplace
Member	An employee committed to the cause of women or with relevant experience
Member	An employee committed to the cause of women or with relevant experience
External Member	A person from an NGO or association committed to the cause of women, or familiar with issues relating to sexual harassment

Where to find the current IC members

The names, designations and contact details of the current Internal Committee members are circulated to all employees separately and are displayed conspicuously at the workplace, as required by Section 19 of the POSH Act.

To raise a complaint or contact the IC, email complaints@insomniacs.in. HR will direct your complaint to the Presiding Officer.

Redressal mechanism

- Filing a complaint: An aggrieved person may lodge a written complaint with the IC, ideally within 3 (three) months of the incident (or the last incident in a series). The IC may extend this period for reasons recorded in writing. The complaint should include details of the incident, the respondent, witnesses and any evidence.
- Assistance: If the complainant is unable to make a written complaint, the IC will render all reasonable assistance. Where the complainant is unable to complain due to incapacity, the complaint may be made by their legal heir, relative, friend, co-worker or any person with knowledge of the incident, in accordance with the POSH Act and rules.
- Conciliation: Before an inquiry, the IC may - only at the request of and with the consent of the complainant - attempt to resolve the matter through conciliation. No monetary settlement may form the basis of conciliation. Conciliation should be concluded within a reasonable period; if a settlement is reached, copies are provided to both parties and the matter is closed.
- Formal inquiry: If conciliation is not opted for, fails, or its terms are not honoured, the IC will conduct a formal inquiry in accordance with the principles of natural justice. The inquiry is to be completed within 90 days as provided by the POSH Act.
- Report and action: On completion, the IC prepares a report with its findings and forwards it to the employer for action, providing a copy to both parties. The Company will act on the IC's recommendations within the time prescribed by the POSH Act.

- Protection against retaliation: No person will be victimised or subjected to detrimental treatment for making a complaint, supporting a complaint or participating in an inquiry in good faith. A complaint made in good faith that is not upheld will not attract any action against the complainant; however, a knowingly false or malicious complaint may be dealt with under the POSH Act.
- Confidentiality: The identity of the complainant, respondent, witnesses, the contents of the complaint, the inquiry proceedings and the recommendations will be kept confidential as required by the POSH Act.
- Governing law: All actions under this Policy are governed by the POSH Act and the rules made under it. Where this Policy is silent, the POSH Act applies and is treated as part of this Policy.

Your Statutory Rights - POSH

You have the right to a workplace free from sexual harassment, to a fair inquiry conducted within statutory timelines, to confidentiality, and to protection from retaliation.

You also have the right to take your complaint directly to the Local Committee or to initiate criminal proceedings; using this internal mechanism does not take away those rights.

Anti-Harassment and Anti-Bullying Policy (All Employees)

In addition to the statutory POSH framework above, The Company is committed to protecting every employee - regardless of gender or gender identity - from harassment, bullying and discrimination. This Policy is a commitment by The Company and applies alongside, and does not limit, the rights of women under the POSH Act.

- Prohibited conduct includes harassment or unwelcome conduct based on sex, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, disability, religion, caste, race or any similar ground; bullying, intimidation, humiliation or the creation of a hostile work environment; and any form of victimisation.
- Any employee who experiences or witnesses such conduct may raise a complaint, in writing or orally, by email to complaints@insomniacs.in. Complaints are handled by a grievance committee constituted by Management, applying the same principles of fairness, confidentiality and non-retaliation that apply under the POSH process.
- Substantiated complaints will be dealt with under the Policy on Disciplinary Action, up to and including termination. Knowingly false or malicious complaints may themselves be treated as misconduct.

Leave Policy

This section sets out all leave entitlements and is the single, authoritative leave policy of The Company. The Company provides all leave mandated by law and, in some cases, more. Leave is subject to prior approval; leave taken without approval will be treated as unauthorised absence and as unpaid leave, and you will be required to explain it to your Reporting Manager and HR.

Leave Entitlement Summary

Type of Leave	Statutory Floor	At The Company	Remarks
Casual Leave (CL)	As per Gujarat S&E Act : 7	7 per year	Credited in advance for the year. On mid-year exit, unused-versus-availed leave is reconciled in the full-and-final settlement on a pro-rata basis.
Earned Leave (EL)	Per law (see note below)	1 EL per 20 working days; advanced	Accrues on days worked; see the Earned Leave clause for accrual and encashment.
Sick Leave (SL)	As per Gujarat S&E Act: 7	7 per year	Self-declaration for a single day; medical certificate for 2 or more consecutive days. Deliberate abuse of Sick Leave can lead to warnings and/or immediate termination for gross misconduct.
Public Holidays	Approx. 11	12 per year	List published at the start of each calendar year on the app and as a separate PDF.

Your Statutory Rights - Leave

Leave entitlements are protected by the Relevant Act and the Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Codes. The figures above meet or exceed the statutory floors.

Earned leave that you are entitled to encash is calculated on your statutory “wages” component, consistent with the Code on Wages, 2019.

Nothing in this Policy reduces a leave entitlement guaranteed to you by law.

Public Holidays

Employees are entitled to public holidays, a list of which is released at the start of each calendar year on the HR Application and as a separate PDF.

General Guidelines

- The leave year is the calendar year (1 January to 31 December). Leave is applied on a pro-rata basis for those who join or are confirmed during the year.
- Leave accrues from the date of joining but may be availed only after confirmation of employment.
- Planned leave should be requested by email to your Reporting Manager, with HR copied, at least two weeks in advance, and also applied for on HR Application. All leave must be approved by HR and the Reporting Manager before it is taken. The approver may decline a leave request based on work commitments or team availability.
- If you have exhausted your leave for the year, further leave will be treated as Loss of Pay and deducted accordingly.
- Employees are requested to inform their respective managers of any client meetings that may occur during working hours.
- Unapproved, uninformed or short-notice leave will be treated as absence.
- We try to be flexible about genuine personal or family emergencies.
- 30 days prior to Diwali date and during New Year's between 25th Dec to 1st Jan, all leaves will be considered as LOP.
- At Most 3 CL/EL/CO can be used in continuation. Unless the Vacation rule is applied and approved by the Manager and the HR.
- CEO's / Inso Day: The mandate that 2 Saturdays a year are blocked as mandatory working days with a complete ban on leaves is entirely missing.

Casual Leave (CL)

- Casual Leave is for an unforeseen situation that prevents you from reporting to work, or for short personal reasons - but not for a vacation.
- Same-day CL with supervisor approval is acceptable for genuine emergencies and is limited to 2 (two) instances per quarter. Repeated patterns will be reviewed by HR.
- CL is to be used within the calendar year.
- CL is not encashable. You need to consume the same in the Calendar year.

Earned Leave (EL)

- Employees must work a minimum 180 days in a calendar year to be eligible for EL.

- Earned Leave is earned for service rendered. An employee earns 1 (one) EL for every 20 working days, ordinarily creditable in the following calendar year.
- The Company credits EL in the next calendar year, 1 for every 20 working days.
- For planned events, personal work, travel or rituals, please apply for full-day or half-day EL at least 48 hours in advance.
- Unused EL can be accrued and carry forward up to 30days.
- Excess EL will be encashed within 6 (six) months of the following year.
- Encashment is calculated on a per-day basis on the employee's statutory wages.

Sick Leave (SL)

- Sick Leave is for when you cannot report to work for health reasons.
- Documentation: For a single day of SL, a self-declaration by email is sufficient. For 2 (two) or more consecutive days of SL, a valid medical certificate is required. If the required documentation is not provided, the leave may be treated as unpaid leave or absence.
- Intimation: SL may be intimated up to 30 minutes before your shift start time (for a 9:00 AM shift, by 8:30 AM; for a 2:00 PM second half, by 1:30 PM). In cases of emergency hospitalisation or incapacity, intimation may be made by a family member and the 30-minute rule does not apply.
- Half-day SL is permitted with prior approval from your supervisor and HR by email. On return, please send a brief self-declaration email confirming you are fit to resume duties.
- Misuse of SL - including submitting a fraudulent medical certificate or a repeated pattern of misuse - is treated as misconduct and dealt with under the Policy on Disciplinary Action, which may include a warning, suspension or termination after due inquiry.
- If a health condition is affecting your work, you are encouraged to contact HR confidentially so we can explore reasonable support, including alternative arrangements where feasible.

Comp-Off Policy

- Employees must complete a minimum of 16 working hours to become eligible for a Comp-Off.
- If the HR Application working hours do not reflect 16 hours, the employee will not be eligible for Comp-Off approval.
- Comp-Off requests must also be applied through HR Application only.

Maternity Leave

- Maternity leave and related benefits are provided in full accordance with the law. Please contact HR before your expected date to plan your leave and benefits.

Your Statutory Rights - Maternity Benefit

Eligible women employees are entitled to paid maternity leave of 26 weeks (for up to two surviving children; 12 weeks from the third child), and to the other benefits provided under the maternity-benefit provisions now contained in the Code on Social Security, 2020.

Additional entitlements include leave for miscarriage, tubectomy and illness arising out of pregnancy, a nursing break, and protection against dismissal during maternity leave, as provided by law.

Where The Company employs 50 or more employees, a crèche facility is provided in accordance with the Code on Social Security, 2020, and eligible mothers are permitted the prescribed visits to the crèche.

Long Leave

- “Long Leave” means 4 (four) to 14 (fourteen) consecutive days.
- An employee who has completed 1 (one) year of service may take ONE Long Leave in each half of the year (January to June, and July to December) - i.e. up to two in a year. The clubbing and sandwich rules do not apply to an approved Long Leave.
- Long Leave must be applied for at least 30 (thirty) days in advance and is subject to approval by the Team Leader and HR.

Clubbing of Leave with Holidays

- Clubbed leave: If The Company declares holidays on consecutive days and you take leave immediately before or after them, the intervening days off are counted within the leave. For example, if there is a public holiday on a Monday (following a Sunday off) and you take leave on Tuesday, the period may be counted as 3 days of leave rather than 1.
- E.g.: If you have a public holiday on a Monday, after a week off of Sunday and you decide to take a leave on Tuesday, then, instead of 1-day leave, it shall be considered as 2 days leave. Similarly, if you are absent on Tuesday and Wednesday, in the same scenario, it shall be considered as 3 leaves. If the Saturday prior to that Sunday was a non-working day too, then it will be 4 leaves instead of 3.
- Sandwiched leave: If there are working day(s) between two holidays and you take leave on those working day(s), the entire period (including the holidays in between) is counted as leave.

- E.g.: If there is a holiday on a Monday and Wednesday and you opt for a leave on Tuesday, then, such leave shall be termed as a Sandwiched leave and, in this case, 3 leaves shall be deducted. If the Saturday prior to that Sunday was a non-working day too, then it will be 4 leaves instead of 3.
- These rules do not apply to an approved Long Leave. Where leave is not clubbed or sandwiched, assigned Sundays and holidays are not counted as leave.

Other Leave Rules

- If an employee remains absent for more than 3 (three) consecutive days without prior leave approval, a notice will be issued requiring them to report immediately. Failure to do so may, after following due process, result in termination, treated as voluntary abandonment of service. Such employees will be considered Absconding Employees.
- If an employee remains absent from work without authorisation and fails to respond to the Company's communications within the prescribed period, the Company may, after following due process, classify such employee as an Absconding Employee. The Company shall process statutory dues in accordance with applicable law and reserves the right to recover Company assets, disable access rights, and initiate appropriate legal proceedings where necessary.
- The company reserves the right to take legal or any other action for recovery of assets and access from absconding employees.
- The Leave Policy does not apply during probation (for availing leave) or during the notice period. If leave is taken during probation or notice, The Company may extend the probation or notice period by the number of days of such leave.
- Half-days may be taken in the first or second half of the day. A half-day not applied for and approved in advance is treated as unpaid leave.
- Please inform your Reporting Manager of any client meetings that fall during working hours.
- Leave compensation is not carried forward to the next year except as expressly provided for Earned Leave encashment above.
- This Leave Policy does not apply to individuals serving internships or apprenticeships, whose leave is governed by the terms of their engagement.
- Any leaves or absence during notice period will extend the notice period last date by that many number of days.

Workplace Health and Safety

- The Company is committed to providing a safe and healthy working environment for all employees, consistent with the Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2020. The Company maintains first-aid facilities, fire-safety equipment and clearly marked emergency exits at the workplace, and conducts evacuation and safety drills from time to time.
- Every employee is expected to work safely, follow all safety instructions and signage, keep walkways and exits clear, and refrain from tampering with or obstructing any safety, fire or first-aid equipment.
- Any accident, injury, near-miss, fire, electrical fault or other safety hazard must be reported to HR or the office in-charge immediately, however minor it may appear. The Company records such reports and takes corrective action. An employee who is unwell to a degree that may endanger themselves or others should inform their Reporting Manager and not remain at the workplace.

Your Statutory Rights - Workplace Health and Safety

The Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2020 entitles you to a safe workplace, basic welfare facilities and protection from hazardous conditions. You have the right to report unsafe conditions without fear of reprisal.

Accidents and Incidents at Work

- Any accident, injury or incident occurring in the course of work - whether it results in injury to the employee, injury to any other person, or damage to property - must be reported to the Company immediately, and in any event before the employee leaves the site or as soon as they are physically able to do so. This applies equally to incidents involving a Company or personal vehicle used on Company duty.
- Where any such accident or incident may give rise to a legal claim, regulatory action, insurance claim, police involvement or third-party liability, the Company has full authority to manage and control the matter, including the investigation, the handling of insurers, the engagement of legal advisors, and all dealings with third parties and authorities. The employee must cooperate fully and promptly with the Company and its representatives, provide complete and truthful information, and preserve any relevant records or evidence.
- In connection with any such matter, and except where required to do so by law or by the police, the employee must not, without the Company's prior written authorisation: admit fault or liability on behalf of the Company; give any statement, undertaking or assurance to a third party, insurer, lawyer or the media; settle or offer to settle any claim; or post about the incident on social media or any public platform. Where the employee is legally required to give a statement to the police or an authority, they should comply and inform the Company at the earliest opportunity.

- Nothing in this clause restricts or reduces any right the employee has under law to medical treatment or to statutory compensation for a workplace injury, including under the Employees' Compensation framework and the Code on Social Security, 2020, or, where applicable, benefits under the Employees' State Insurance scheme. The Company's control of the response relates to the management of the incident, claims and communications, and not to the employee's own statutory entitlements.

Alcohol and Drug Policy

The Company is committed to a safe, productive and alcohol- and drug-free work environment, in order to protect the safety of all employees and prevent incidents arising from alcohol or drug use.

Scope of prohibition

The possession, use or sale of alcohol on Company premises or at any place of work during work hours is strictly prohibited. The possession, use or sale of drugs and drug paraphernalia is strictly prohibited. Employees must not report to work under the influence of alcohol or drugs. An employee taking a prescription drug that could impair work performance should provide a statement from the prescribing physician confirming it will not impair their work.

Rights of the Company

In the interest of safety and health, The Company reserves the right to:

- inspect and search, on a reasonable basis, packages, bags, clothing or personal belongings carried on or off Company premises, conducted respectfully and - where the person is a woman - by another woman, with due regard to dignity and privacy;
- require an alcohol or drug test where there is reasonable ground to believe an employee has reported to work under the influence; and
- report the possession, use or sale of alcohol or drugs to the public authorities and cooperate with them, where required by law.

Consequences

- A verified breach of this policy is treated as serious misconduct and may result in termination following the disciplinary process. In a case of serious or dangerous conduct - for example, violence at work while under the influence, or dealing in illicit substances at work - The Company may treat the matter as gross misconduct.

- Where appropriate, The Company may treat a breach as a capability or health matter and address it through normal disciplinary or support procedures rather than immediate termination.
- If an employee voluntarily admits to a substance-misuse problem, the disciplinary process may be held in abeyance, subject to the employee undertaking and responding to treatment and to improvement in performance.

Confidentiality

Information about drug or alcohol test results and about violations of this policy is treated as confidential and disclosed only to management representatives who need to know, and to authorities or courts where required by law. Test results will be provided to the employee or their designated representative on written request.

Policy on Disciplinary Action

This policy sets out how The Company handles disciplinary issues - allegations or complaints about an employee, breaches of this Handbook or Company policy, and other matters that in Management's opinion require disciplinary action. It applies to all employees and is applied consistently and fairly. Conduct not specifically described in this policy may still be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal.

Procedural Fairness

Where an allegation may lead to a formal disciplinary process, The Company will ensure that:

- the employee is informed of their right to be accompanied by a representative or support person at any stage;
- the employee receives notice of the specific allegation, its seriousness and the possible consequences if substantiated;
- the employee has the opportunity to provide an explanation, which is given full consideration; and
- matters discussed in a disciplinary process are kept confidential, with a record kept on the personnel file.

Procedure

- Preliminary investigation: A management representative conducts a preliminary investigation, which may include interviewing witnesses and the employee and reviewing CCTV footage where available. The employee will be told that, while the preliminary interview is not itself a formal disciplinary meeting, a disciplinary process may follow. If the allegation lacks substance, a note is made and no further action is taken; minor matters may be addressed through informal coaching, documented on the file.

- Disciplinary committee: The disciplinary committee comprises 3 (three) members of Management or their nominees.
- Formal meeting: Where a formal process is initiated, the employee receives written notice of the allegation and copies of the documents to be relied upon (such as witness statements, the investigation report and any CCTV footage), and reasonable notice to seek advice or representation. The employee may respond to the allegations at the meeting. If the employee chooses not to attend, the meeting may proceed and the outcome will be based on the available facts. Reasonable requests to reschedule or to be accompanied will be accommodated.
- Notes of the meeting are taken by a management representative (these are not verbatim). All responses and evidence are considered by the committee.
- Outcome: The outcome is delivered at a separate meeting after full consideration, with a further opportunity for the employee to be heard before the final decision is communicated. The outcome is confirmed in writing.

Possible Outcomes

If the outcome is against the employee, the disciplinary committee may impose one or more of the following, proportionate to the misconduct:

- a written warning or written apology;
- referral to professional help or support, where relevant;
- suspension (with the question of pay during suspension determined in accordance with applicable law);
- a fine or deduction, only on the grounds, within the limits and following the procedure permitted by the Code on Wages, 2019; or
- termination of employment, which in cases of gross misconduct may be without notice or pay in lieu of notice, in accordance with law.

Note on fines and deductions

Under the Code on Wages, 2019, fines and deductions from wages are permitted only on specified grounds, are subject to monetary limits, and require notice and an opportunity for the employee to be heard. The Company applies disciplinary deductions only within these limits and following due process.

This list is indicative. The disciplinary committee may pass any disciplinary action it considers fit in justice, equity and good conscience, subject always to applicable law.

- A Travel Activity Report must be submitted to the Reporting Manager, who will approve, suggest corrections or disapprove it within 1 working day. It is then sent with the Expense Report to Accounts, who act as custodian.

HR Application

- The Company uses the Bitrix24 application as its HRMS to manage key HR functions.
- To enable smooth internal management, employees are expected to install and use the HR Application on their mobile phone.
- HR Application is used to track progress and attendance, to administer policies, for record-keeping and leave applications, and similar purposes. Employees should use HR Application for communications with HR where practicable, and may use email or call where the application does not support a particular communication.
- Clock-in / clock-out: Employees clock in and out when at the office, a meeting location or on outdoor duty. If you step out for a personal reason, clock out and clock back in on return.
- If you fail to clock in or out, you may be marked absent for that period unless the discrepancy is corrected with your Reporting Manager and HR.
- Records on HR Application are used to administer the policies in this Handbook and the Employment Agreement.

Location Tracking - Consent and Limits

- HR Application includes location functionality used to verify attendance and field duty and to support employee safety. By using the application for work, you consent to location tracking during your working hours and while you are clocked in.
- Location tracking is limited to working hours and to periods when you are clocked in. It does not operate after you clock out or outside working hours. You are not required to keep location services on outside working hours for attendance purposes.
- Location and attendance data is collected only for the purposes stated above, is accessed only by authorised personnel, and is handled in accordance with the Data Protection section of this Handbook.
- If you have a concern about location tracking, you may raise it with HR; The Company will address it reasonably and in line with applicable law.

Why this Handbook does not ask you to “waive” your privacy

Following the Supreme Court’s recognition of privacy as a fundamental right (K.S. Puttaswamy), and consistent with the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023, monitoring is based on informed consent, a clear purpose and proportionate limits - not a blanket waiver of privacy.

Tracking confined to working hours, for stated purposes, is the lawful and enforceable way to achieve the Company’s operational needs.

Data Protection and Employee Privacy

The Company processes personal data about its employees (such as contact details, identity and bank details, attendance, performance and, where relevant, health information) for legitimate employment and statutory purposes. The Company is committed to handling this data lawfully and responsibly, consistent with the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023.

- Purpose: Employee personal data is collected and used for payroll, statutory compliance, attendance, performance management, safety and the administration of this Handbook and the Employment Agreement.
- Consent and notice: Where the law requires consent, The Company will obtain it and provide notice of the purpose. Sensitive personal data (such as health information) is handled with additional care and shared only with those who need to know.
- Access and correction: You may ask HR to access or correct your personal data held by The Company, subject to applicable law.

- Security and retention: The Company applies reasonable security safeguards and retains personal data only for as long as necessary for the purposes above or as required by law.
- Your obligations: When you handle the personal data of colleagues, clients or third parties in the course of your work, you must do so only for authorised purposes and in accordance with this section and your confidentiality obligations.

Statutory Employment Benefits

The Company provides statutory employment benefits to eligible employees in accordance with applicable law.

Your Statutory Rights - Social Security

Provident Fund (PF): Eligible employees are enrolled in the Employees' Provident Fund, with employer and employee contributions as prescribed, under the Code on Social Security, 2020.

Employees' State Insurance (ESI): Eligible employees (within the applicable wage threshold) are covered for medical and related benefits under the ESI framework, as prescribed.

Gratuity: Payable on completion of five years of continuous service (not required in case of death or disablement), at 15 days' wages for each completed year of service, under the Code on Social Security, 2020.

These contributions and benefits are calculated on your statutory "wages" as defined by the Code on Wages, 2019.

EPF and ESI Policy

- The Company shall comply with all applicable obligations relating to the Employees' Provident Fund and Employees' State Insurance schemes, in accordance with the provisions of applicable law.
- Eligible employees shall be enrolled in the relevant schemes, and the prescribed employee contributions shall be deducted from salary and remitted along with the employer's contributions within the statutory timelines.
- Employees shall furnish all information and documentation reasonably required for registration, nomination and claim processing.

Protection of Confidential Information and Meetings

- The recording, circulation or publication of any content from internal meetings, client meetings, review meetings or any other official Company or client meeting is prohibited without authorisation.
- Where an employee is permitted to record a meeting or voice note for internal purposes, that person is responsible for any consequences of distributing or sharing the content outside The Company - including sharing with friends, family, the media or social media - and may face disciplinary and legal consequences.
- Employees must not photograph, screen-record, print or photocopy Company or client information except as required for authorised work. Unauthorised photographing, recording, printing or copying may be treated as theft of intellectual property or a breach of confidentiality and dealt with under the disciplinary process and applicable law.
- The purpose of this policy is to safeguard The Company's integrity and protect sensitive information from misuse or unauthorised disclosure.

Grievance Redressal

The Company encourages employees to raise concerns early. If you have a work-related grievance, raise it first with your Reporting Manager; if it is unresolved or it would be inappropriate to raise it with your manager, escalate it to HR at hr2@insomniacs.in. Grievances relating to harassment should be raised through the POSH or Anti-Harassment routes described in this Handbook.

Note - Grievance mechanism under the Codes

The Industrial Relations Code, 2020 provides for a grievance redressal mechanism in establishments of the prescribed size. The Company maintains an internal grievance route consistent with this requirement and will constitute a Grievance Redressal Committee as and where required by the Code and the applicable rules.

Whistleblower and Protected Disclosures

- The Company encourages employees to report, in good faith, any actual or suspected fraud, financial irregularity, corruption, bribery, theft, misuse of Company resources, breach of law or regulation, serious safety violation, or breach of this Handbook or Company policy.

- Such a disclosure may be made confidentially by email to complaints@insomniacs.in or directly to any member of Management. Disclosures may be made anonymously, although providing your identity assists investigation. The Company treats the identity of a person making a good-faith disclosure as confidential to the extent reasonably possible.
- No employee will be subjected to dismissal, demotion, harassment, victimisation or any other detrimental treatment for making a disclosure in good faith, even if the concern later proves unfounded. Retaliation against such a person is itself treated as serious misconduct. This protection does not extend to a disclosure that the employee knows to be false or that is made maliciously, which may itself attract disciplinary action.
- Concerns relating to sexual harassment should be raised through the POSH or Anti-Harassment routes set out in this Handbook.

Whistleblower Investigation Procedure

All disclosures received under the Whistleblower Policy shall be reviewed promptly and investigated fairly, confidentially and without retaliation against the complainant acting in good faith.

Knowingly false or malicious complaints may attract disciplinary action. Appropriate corrective action shall be taken based on the findings of the investigation.
